

Jorge Sanchez Cifuentes. Master in Business Administration (Executive MBA) for the Institute of Company and Engineer of Telecommunications, for the Technical University of Madrid, specialist in Telematic. Nowadays he occupies the Assistant Director's post of Innovation and Technology in Endesa, being the Assistant Director of Investigation, Technological Development and Innovation of Endesa, person in charge of the management of the project of the electrical Vehicle in Endesa, nowadays he represents ENEL in the international group e8 and is the president of the European chapter of the association CHAdeMO. Previously he has occupied diverse positions inside Endesa so much in the Direction of Investigation, Technological Development and Innovation in the areas of electrical distribution and commercialization, since in the Direction of Organization and Processes. He is the Director of Innovation projects and Living Laboratory of Endesa Distribution. He possesses experience in different positions in Chile, Brazil and Spain. Nowadays he coordinates multidisciplinary equipments of different nationalities in research and development. He has led different projects of innovation as ZEM2ALL (bilateral project Spain - Japan to develop a demonstration of 60 millions € using Electrical Vehicles and V2G). Nowadays he takes part in the most important European consortia related to the Electrical Vehicle as G4V, Green eMotion, ELVIRE, eDash, Unplugged. He has been employed as teacher at the Universities of Salamanca and Nebrija, and nowadays he is a teacher of several masters: Endesa-ICAI, College of Civil Engineers, School of Industrial Organization. He possesses several publications and patents.